Cedric learnt a lesson

Cedric liked telling lies. One day, Cedric was bored so he made up a story. He said, 'Help! Wolf!' Then the villagers came to help. Yet he was laughing and said, 'There's no wolf! You're too silly!' After that, his friend Moses said to him, 'You shouldn't tell lies. The villagers will hate you!'

Next day, Cedric told the villagers, 'A wicked witch took my sister Hebe to the castle!' Cedric was worried. However, the villagers did not believe what he said. Only Moses believed him.

Moses said, 'Let's go to the witch's castle and help your sister!'

In the end, Cedric saved his sister and killed the wicked witch. Unfortunately, he had a very long nose forever because he told a lot of lies.

Florence and The Three Little Pigs

Yesterday, Florence read a book in the library. The book was The Three Little Pigs. Florence enjoyed reading books and the other students also enjoyed reading.

The book was about three little pigs who set off to build houses in the forest. They were very excited because it was the first time they built their own houses.

Unfortunately, a wicked wolf wanted to eat the pigs because it was very hungry. The wolf needed to blow down the houses. The three little pigs felt terrible.

In the end, the wicked wolf used all the power to blow down the houses but the houses did not fall down. The silly wolf gave up disappointedly.

The next day, Florence went back to school and talked about this book with her classmate. Nick said, 'If I were the wolf, I would be kind and would not eat the pigs.' Florence replied, 'When I read this book, I felt surprised because the plot was very exciting. I learnt that we should not give up easily and we should not be a coward.'

Problems around the world

There are many problems in Africa. Africa is poor. Many people are hungry and sick.

The weather in Africa is hot and dry, There are always droughts. The land is too dry so they cannot grow crops. Some people do not have enough money so they cannot buy food or medicine.

The water in Africa is very dirty. The people drink the dirty water so they become sick, but they don't have money to see doctors.

There are not enough chairs or desks at schools in Africa. Children do not have enough books, paper or pens to use. Many schools are too old. People need money to rebuild them and buy the stationery they need.

How can we help them? We can either donate money or go on a charity walk. We can also donate old clothes, toys, books and stationery. We can sell flags on the street to raise money too. Hopefully, we can help them have a better life.

Betty's basketball dream

One day, Betty watched a basketball match with her classmates. Betty thought the basketball players were cool. She wanted to be a great basketball player too.

Betty went back to school and told her PE teacher, 'I want to be a basketball player too!' 'Sorry, you can't join the basketball team because you're not tall enough.' Betty was disappointed.

A basketball player came to Betty and said, 'If you want to be a basketball player, you need to eat healthy food and do more exercise so that you can grow taller.'

Betty ran after school, played basketball and drank milk before bed every day.

One year later, Betty grew up to 158 cm tall and she joined the basketball team. She was very glad. She learnt that she needed to work hard to achieve her goal.
