

A Genie

One day, Danny was taking some trash out and he dropped a box. A glass bottle broke and a genie appeared. It was as ugly as a toad. Genie said, 'Thank you for saving me. I'll grant you a wish!' Danny felt excited. Danny said, 'I want to be taller.' Then, Genie cried, 'Abracadabra!'

At first, Danny grew taller and he felt glad. However, he soon became as tall as a house. Danny was afraid because he was too tall. He wanted Genie to help him. The problem was that only a wizard could undo the spell.

Fortunately, Genie had an idea. Genie said, 'There is a wizard who lives on the hill. He is wise like an owl.' Genie suggested, 'Let's find the wizard for help!' Danny felt hopeful.

They climbed up the hill for hours. At last, they reached the wizard's tower. There they saw the wizard playing video games. Danny asked the wizard, 'Excuse me? This Genie accidentally made me too tall. Can you help me?' The wizard thought for a while and agreed. The wizard cast a spell but he forgot how to do it properly because he was always playing video games. He did turn Danny into his original self but he accidentally made the whole world bigger. Therefore, Danny looked like an ant. In the end, Danny was so small that he got stepped on by everyone and died.

Two Neighbours

Joan and Alvin were neighbours but they did not get on well. Joan was very diligent. She always studied in her free time. However, Alvin was very naughty. He always played tricks on Joan when she was off guard.

One day, Joan was going to school. Alvin was hiding, waiting for Joan to pass by. Suddenly, Joan stepped on a banana peel Alvin placed on the floor. When she slipped over, Alvin came out and laughed at her. Joan was very angry with him because not only did she fell down, she also scratched her knee.

The next day, Joan was walking around when she saw Alvin. A dog was barking at him. It was as fierce as a tiger. Alvin was very scared of it and tried to get away from it. Yet, the dog kept following Alvin.

Suddenly, Joan thought of an idea. She picked up a tree branch and threw it away from Alvin. The dog chased after it and did not come back. Alvin looked at Joan and kept thanking her. Joan said, 'You owe me a favour.' Alvin replied, 'Of course! What do you want me to do?' Joan said, 'Promise me that you will never play tricks on me again.' After that incident, they became best friends.

Help the animals

There are so many endangered animals in the world. Why do they become endangered? What should we do to help them?

Pandas are one of the endangered animals. People cut down so many trees. They also destroy a lot of bamboo forests. Therefore, many pandas become homeless. They will not be able to find food unless we stop destroying bamboo forests. If we want to save pandas, we should stop cutting down bamboo. We should also keep telling our families and friends to protect pandas.

Elephants are one of the endangered animals too. Hunters kill elephants for their tusks! Therefore, many elephants become endangered. Hunters will keep killing elephants unless people stop buying ivory ornaments. If we want to save elephants, we should stop killing elephants. We should also keep telling our families and friends to protect elephants.

Dolphins are also one endangered. People dump so much toxic waste into the sea. Therefore, many dolphins get sick and die. If we want to save dolphins, we should stop throwing away so much rubbish into the sea.

Penguins are another kind of endangered animals. People use fishing nets and trap them accidentally. Penguins don't have any food to eat so they die of hunger. If we want to save penguins, we should stop catching fish with nets.

Let's save the animals and stop hunting them. Stop buying ivory ornaments, dumping toxic waste into the sea and cutting down so many trees. Then the animals will be in safe hands.

The princess

Once upon a time, there was a princess called Rose. She was as gentle as a lamb so the children loved her very much. However, there was a wicked witch in a faraway island. She was ugly. She noticed that Rose was very beautiful so she wanted to catch her.

One day, Rose woke up and noticed she was inside a huge cage. She was scared. After a while, the cruel witch came and said, 'You are beautiful so I will put a spell on you and we will exchange our bodies. Ha! Ha! Ha!' The princess shouted, 'Oh no!' The villagers noticed the princess disappeared so they set off to find the princess.

At last, they found the princess and fought with the witch. Luckily, they won! The villagers cried to the princess, 'We miss you a lot.' The princess replied, 'You are as brave as lions. Thanks for saving me!' At the end, they went back to the village and lived happily forever.