

Help the animals!

There are so many endangered animals in the world. Why do they become endangered? What should we do to help them?

Pandas are one of the animals which are endangered. People cut down so many trees. They also destroy a lot of bamboo forests. Therefore, many pandas become homeless. They will not be able to find food unless we stop destroying bamboo forests. If we want to save pandas, we should stop cutting down bamboo. We should also keep telling our families and friends to protect pandas.

Dolphins are also one of the endangered animals. Factories produce so much toxic waste and dump into the sea. Then the fish easily eat the toxic waste and they die. Dolphins don't have enough food to eat. Therefore, they die because of hunger. Dolphins can't live because the water is too dirty. They will soon become extinct unless people stop polluting the sea. People should not dump so much toxic waste and we should make people to pay a lot of money when they dump toxic waste into the sea.

Elephants are also endangered. People hunt elephants for their tusks to make ivory ornaments. Because many people want to buy ivory ornaments, people kill elephants. Hunters will not stop hunting the elephants unless we stop buying ivory ornaments. We should remind each other not to buy ivory ornaments.

Animals are also part of our Earth. We need to protect them and be thankful. We should try our best to protect them. Let's work together to protect the animals.

6B Man Long Ching

12th October, 20XX

Sunny

Today after school, Judy and I waited for the minibus to go home at the minibus stop.

While we were waiting for the minibus, Judy was playing the phone games and I was chatting with her happily. There were a lady and a man who were waiting for the minibus too.

Suddenly, Judy dropped her mobile phone because I hit her accidentally. Then I saw Judy was scared and sad because she was worried about her phone. Next she tried to pick up her mobile phone on the ground. The minibus was coming and Judy didn't see the minibus. The lady and the man saw her and they screamed. I thought Judy was in danger so I wanted to save her. However, I was not brave to stop her.

Luckily, the minibus driver saw Judy and he stopped the minibus at once. Judy was not injured although the minibus was very close to Judy. Judy and I were thankful to the minibus driver.

At last I said sorry to Judy and she forgave me. I should be more careful when I wait for the minibus.

6C Wong Yiu Long, Matthew

12th October, 20XX

Sunny

Today after school, Judy and I waited for the minibus to go home at the minibus stop. When we were waiting for the minibus, we talked and Judy took out her new I-phone ten. When I was doing a movement of a character from a comedy film, I accidentally hit Judy's arm and her I-phone fell in the middle of the road. So Judy went to pick it up. However, while Judy was picking the phone, we saw a minibus was driving fast towards her. It was as fast as a horse. I stopped doing silly actions and cried out, 'Judy! Beware!' But it was too late. Judy bumped into the minibus. I was very worried.

So we called the ambulance. The ambulance brought Judy to a hospital. I was mad at myself. So I gathered all my classmates and went to visit Judy. When we got to the hospital, we gave Judy some presents. Andy gave her so much chocolate. I gave her a new I-phone. After that, we gave her a blessing card. She was very happy. I asked which day she will get back to school and her reply was after a week. I was very happy to hear the news so I went back home. I am looking forward to making a party for Judy when she comes back to school. I am excited!

6D Leung Ho Man, Ricky

Touch and Guess

Last week, Ben joined a game at school fun day. It was one of his memorable experiences.

The game was called Touch and Guess. The player needed to touch the item inside the box and then guess what it was. The game started in the school hall in the morning.

Lulu played the game first. She touched an item and she guessed it was a teddy bear. She said, 'It's soft. I guess it's a teddy bear. It's so easy!' The host said, 'Lulu, you're correct!' She was over the moon.

Then it was Jason's turn. He was so worried about what was inside the box. He put his hand inside the box and touched something hard. He shouted, 'Oh! What is it?' Five seconds later, he guessed it was a pineapple. He was right so he was really excited.

At last, it was Ben's turn. He was calm when he touched the item. Then he cried, 'What is it? It's so disgusting! The audience were laughing. Ben was worried and he asked, 'Is there any cream?' The host said happily, 'It's a birthday cake for you! Happy birthday, Ben!' Ben was so surprised and moved. It was the best birthday he had ever had.